S&P Global Sustainable1

Media & Stakeholder Analysis (MSA)

Notice of Enhancements

December 2025

This notice relates to S&P's Global Sustainable1 Media & Stakeholder Analysis (MSA). The MSA enables S&P Global to monitor companies' sustainability performance on an ongoing basis by assessing controversies that may have negative reputational or financial impacts, as well as impacts on stakeholders and the environment. The MSA forms an integral part of the S&P Global Corporate Sustainability Assessment ('CSA').

This notice describes enhancements to the MSA process that are currently under review and that S&P Global Sustainable1 intends to incorporate in the Media & Stakeholder Analysis Guidebook's Research Process section, which we expect to release in March 2026. The updates outlined in this notice are currently under review and may be subject to change. The purpose of this notification is to ensure that we maintain transparency in our processes and decisions with the market. The full release will be accompanied by the updated S&P Global MSA Guidebook describing the change.

MSA Enhancements under Review

As of March 2026, media and stakeholder stories on corporate controversies will be monitored on an ongoing basis through S&P Global's proprietary controversies screening model, which based on pre-defined filters, aggregates and pre-screens content from global, local, and regional news sources; governmental and non-governmental organizations; legal materials; and industry publications, among others.

Prior to this date, corporate controversies part of the MSA were monitored, compiled and pre-screened by S&P Global' s former partner RepRisk[1]. This change does not affect the current MSA methodology, or its analytical application as described in the S&P Global MSA Guidebook.
